I use your site quite frequently and appreciate all the offerings. However, after I edit many of my pictures and place them on my website.....they C "collapse "or are deleted. Why? Any help would be appreciated.

You should never copy the image url of edited pictures. Lunapic does not serve images up for other websites.

If you run a website, you should save your images to your computer, then upload to your own website directly.

You can also use IMGUR image hosting, then image hosting code provided.
